

NIA IMPACT
COLLABORATORY
TRANSFORMING DEMENTIA CARE

Grand Rounds

The National Institute on Aging (NIA) Imbedded Pragmatic Alzheimer's Disease (AD) and AD-related dementias (ADRD) Clinical Trials (IMPACT) Collaboratory works to build the nation's capacity to conduct pragmatic clinical trials (ePCTs) of interventions embedded within health care systems for people living with dementia and their care partners. The IMPACT Collaboratory hosts free webinars on the 3rd Thursday of each month at 12 noon ET addressing these issues. If you are not yet on our mailing list, join here to receive IMPACT updates and reminders. Registration is not required, and a recording of the webinar as well as a companion podcast will be available after the event on our website, impactcollaboratory.org.

“Developing standards and quality metrics for clinical phenotyping using EHR data in pragmatic clinical trials”

Rachel Richesson, PhD, MPH, FACMI

Professor of Informatics & Learning Health Sciences

Thursday, October 20, 2022

12:00 – 1:00 pm ET

Rachel Richesson, PhD, MPH, is a professor in the Department of Learning Health Sciences, School of Medicine, University of Michigan. Dr. Richesson conducts research on the quality and usability of data from electronic health records (EHRs) for research, and has fostered numerous interdisciplinary research collaborations. She has directed implementation of data standards for a number of multi-national multi-site clinical research and epidemiological studies, including the NIH Rare Diseases Clinical Research Network, Type 1 Diabetes TrialNet, The Environmental Determinants of Diabetes in the Young (TEDDY) study, and the national distributed Patient Centered Outcomes Research Network (PCORnet). Dr. Richesson currently co-leads the EHR Core for the NIH Pragmatic Trials Collaboratory, which is developing standards and quality metrics for clinical phenotyping using EHR data in pragmatic clinical trials. She is the editor of Clinical Research Informatics (Springer, 2012 & 2019).
